

Commercial look = charitable cost

When you start to look corporate, you stop looking like a charity.

And for many donors, that's not a good thing. It creates doubt, not trust – and doubt doesn't open wallets.